WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.— By the Associated Fress.] The annual report of Admiral Porter shows most of the ships of the navy in good condition. The Antietam, Juniata, Pilgrim and Quionebaug have been consumed and ordered seld for $500, $10,000, $1000 and $15,000 respectively. The Admiral says he has frequently found the reports of exercises on board the ships unsattactory and the regulations imperfectly compiled with, and he thinks reports should be made directly to the Bureau of Navigation, where they might come under the eye of the department. Many things which are obsolute are still adhered to in these reports, the forms for which were made 20 years aco, and the Admiral recommends that, as the system of tactics and exercises is entirely changed, new forms be made.

WON HIS SUIT.

Judge Rucker's Claim Against the Aspen Mine Sustained.

DENVER (Cole.), Nov. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] The famous Aspen mining suit brought by Judge Rucker sgainst Harvey Young and others, and involving one-sixth interest in the Aspen mine, as well as one-sixth interest in the Aspen mine, as well as one-sixth of the $4,000,000 or $5,000,000 which have already been taken out, was decided in favor of Rucker this morning. Judge Stuart has had the case under advisement for more than two weeks, and the opinion, a very elaborate decree, will be rendered tomorrow.

Rucker hought an online of this angular tomorrow.

Rucker bought an option of this one-sixt interest for $13,000 from Harvey Young. I rich vein was struck and Young refused to complete the trade. Rucker brought suit and the decision rendered this mornin makes him some $2,000,000 richer than b was last night. The case may be appealed.

THE SILVER CRUSADE

Preparations for Carrying on a Vig-Preparations for Carrying on a Vigorons Campaign.
Sr. Louis, Nov. 26.—The National Coumittee provided for by the sliver convention elected Gen. A. J. Warner of Ohio chairman, and Lee Crasdall of Virginia secretary. The chairman is authorized to name the time and piace for holding the next convention and appoint an Executive Committee of nine to conduct the sliver campaign.
The delegates to the National Sliver Convention from Colorado, California, Nevada, Texas and Montana today adopted a resolution urging their members in the Fifty-first Congress to vote for no man, either in caucus or elsewhere, for Speaker of the House, whose record does sot prove him a consistent friend of the movement for the restoration of sliver.

A CYCLONE.

Its Disastrous Work in North Carolina—Several Lives Lost.
CHARLOTTE (N. C.), Nov. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] A cyclone passed over Buford county yesterday. Houses were blown down and trees torn up by the roots. The residence of a farmer near Washington was blown to atoms. The entire family, father, mother and four children, were killed instantly.

A factory near Washington was blown down. One man was killed and a dozen others received injuries. Matte Chews, the pretty daughter of a farmer, was caught up and carried away. The body has not yet bean found.

Reports are very meager. It is impossible to obtain the names of all the killed.

who in March last murtered his wife and two daughters, was happed this morning. The execution was one of the worst pieces of bungling ever witnessed. The weight which lifted the body was not heavy enough to give sufficient rebound to break the condemned man's neck, and his struggles and contortions as he slowly strangled to death were frightful. To add to the horror the knot slipped and the gurgling in the man's throat as his life was being choked out could be heard outside the jall walls.

Foundered on Lake Michigan CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—The largest sailing vessel on the lakes, the David Dows, foundered this afternoon 20 miles southeast foundered this afternoon 20 miles southeast of Chicago. The crew had a terrible rough experience, but were finally saved. The vessel cost $100,000 when built six years ago. Her cargo consisted of 2350 tons of coal. She was the victim of the terrible gale yesterday, that wrought havoe with a number of other vessels, and nearly cost the lives of nine workmen in the caisson above the new water tunnel two miles out in the lake from this city.

Cattle Losses in New Mexico.

DENVER (Colo.), Nov. 29.—A telegram
rom Raton, N.M., says: The loss of live stock in this section of the Territory by the late storms are lighter than first reported. In horses and sheep, 2 per ceat. will cover the loss. Along the line of the Denver and Fort Worth road the loss will probably reach 5 per cent. The greatest loss to cattering on was the scattering of large herds of beef steers gathered for shipment to eastern markets. The owners, however, are endeavoring to gather them with some chances of success.

San Jose's Pet Project.

San Jose, Nov. 29.—The Beard of Trade tonight heard the report of the committee appointed to investigate the proposition of the River, Harbor, Canal, Dredging and Land Company of San Francisco, which was in favor of the plan for deepening and widening Alviso slough, so as to admit the passage of ocean steamers to within a few miles of San José. The board adopted the report and indorsed the plan. The cost of the work will be $100,000, which will be raised by the purchase of stock by citizens of San José.

The Athol Burglary.

ATHOL (Mass.), Nov. 29.—The amount of valuables secured in the burglary at the Stowell residence is now placed at $25,000. Most of the securities taken were negotiable. The opening of the safe is a mystery, as the combination was supposed to be known by Stowell and his daughter only.

Short and Sharp Stogging.

New York, Nov. 29.—A short but fleree skin-glove fight took place in a barn on Long Island tonight between Jimmy Lynch of New York and Joe Flaherty of Boston. The latter was knecked out in the fourth round by a tremendous blow on the Jaw, and was unconscious for five minutes.

Death of an Old-timer.

San Francisco, Nov. 29.—M. C. Joyce, proprietor of the Café Royal and a sporting man well known all over the Pacific Coast, and the minimum of the man well known all over the Facult Coass, particularly in this city and the mining camps of Arizona, died this morning. For nany years deceased was a Supervisor in Tombstone, and has also served a term as Mayor of the town.

At this point the court adjourned.
In conversation about the knives which Flynn produced at the last moment in the trial, the Chief of Police declared he believed it was Clanna-Gael influence which induced Flynn to suppress the matter as long as he had.

A Fatal Ride.

A Fatal Ride.
WINNEMUCCA (Nev.), Nov. 29.—Charley Lane and David Jackson left for California without their parents' knowledge. They boarded a freight train at night, and were stealing a ride between the cars. Forty miles west of Winnemucca Lane fell and was run over, his left side being crushed and his arm and leg broken. He was brought here and died in a few hours.

A Visit to Valensin's.

PLEASANTON, Nov. 29.—A party of noted eastern horsemen, consisting of Robert Bonner, Col. R. S. Stroder, W. H. Crawford, J. İ. Case and Ed Bithers, visited Count Valensin's stock farm today and critically examined Direct, Goldlesf, Faustine, Sydney and other famous racers of Valensin's stables. The party afterward returned to Sacramento.

Dorsey Gets an Extension.

Denver (Colo.), Nov. 29.—The Republican's Santa Fé special says: The sale of ex-Senator Dorsey's herd of cattle, by mortrage sale, has been satisfactorily settled, and the sale will not take place. Dorsey has paid $17,000 on the original mortrage, and has been given a year's further time in which to liquidate the debt.

Y.M.C.A. Thanksgiving.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian Association have followed a cus-tom of providing every year a Thanksgiv-ing dinner for those of the members of the association who are living here away from association who are living here away from home. Through the generosity of friends a sumptuous dinner was given on Thanksgiving day in the hail of the Y.M.C.A., of which more than a hundred partook. One of the guests present was Maj. Hilton, who made some brief and spicy remarks. The time after dinner, at which Rev. A. W. Rider presided, was passed pleasantly in responses to toasts and short speeches. Through the earnest and devoted work of Mrs. J. D. Burch, chairman, and other ladies of the auxillary, a large number of young men were made to feel the pleasures of home life for at least one day in the year. AN UNKNOWN.

They were nearly all men who have been and are connected with police and detective circles, and they gave Lucas a very bad name. The old rows between the police force and the detectives, which occurred during the past few years in Los Angeles, were gone into. The witnesses, one and all, testified that Lucas's reputation for honesty, integrity and truthfulness is bad.

Detective Lawson was questioned about the career of Lucas in San Francisco and Oakland, and told about the first time he became acquained with Lucas, in the Alameda jail. Lawson at that time had a contract for feeding the prisoners, and Lucas was a prisoner. All that Lawson knew about why Lucas was imprisoned was that he had personated a United States officer. He was in jail eight or nine months while Lawson was there.

Mr. Dibbie asked the witness if he did not know that it was for blackmail, perpetrated while personating an officer. This was objected to by the counsel for the plaintiff, and Mr. Dibbie retorted that he proposed to prove that was the crime, and he had the indictment in his pocket.

At the conclusion of the day's testimony, Mr. Dibbie asked and obtained a continuance until next Tuesday, in order to procure the attendance of material witnesses.

oarding with Her a Couple of Weeks, and Then Pawning Her Jewelry to Skip the State—Bad Becord for a Holiness Man.

Another preacher has gone wrong in this city, and is now basking in the sortowful smiles of some congregation in the wilds of Texas. It is not known whether he took lessons under the able U. Grant Glick, but it is very certain that he after the style of the Glick order, for he did up all who came in contact with him, aid he skipped the country before the offers could get their clutches on him. As the story goes, some four weeks ago a well-dressed young man, with a white neck-the and a please-don't-swear-before-me look it his red-rimmed eyes, put in an appearance in the quiet little town of Garvanza. He gave out that he was in quest of a quiet boarding-house, where he could pursue his stulles without being interrupted by the noisy world.

mons to be delivered in dens of crime in Les Angeles. Il Some one recommended him to an old widow who is noted for her pious ways and kindness of neart. The old lady is not blessed with an abundance of this world's goods, and as the preacher gave out that he was able to pay well for whatever he got, the foot him in and treated him to the best rount to the faellow, and for two weeks he lived on the fat of the land. The old lady went is debt right and left to keep up her table, for she got is into her head that such a guest could not live on food prepared for ordinary mortals. The boarder was to pay up weakly, but he was so wrapped up in its stidles that he said nothing about the board bill, and the old lady said nothing, although she was so hard up that she did not know where to turn. One morning about two weeks ago Rev. Joseph Packard, for that is hig name, said that he would be compelled to go to Los Angeles on business. Supposing that he was coming after money for her, the old lady thought she would give him a slight hint as to her condition, although she did not care to ask him for money.

"Brother Packard," said she, in her though she did not care to ask him for miney.

"Brother Packard," said she, in her sweetest tones, "I have a little lewelry which I wish to pawn. I have no use for it just now, and as I am somewhat hard pressed for money, you will confer a great obligation by raising what money you can get if you have time," and she displayed a fine gold watch and chain and a set of studs. She did not believe the "dear-prother" would undertake the business, she expected him to say:

"Keep your jewelry, dear Sister Blank. I owe you for two weeks" board, and on my return, this evening, you shall have all the money you need." But he didn't say anything of the kind; he was not built that way. He simply pocketed the jewelry, and ejaculated:

"I shall be most happy to accommodate

way. He simply pocketed the jeweiry, and ejaculated:

"I shall be most happy to accommodate you, my dear sister. I happen to know a jeweier on Spring street, opposite the Nadean House, who does that kind of business, and i will get him to give me about the full value of your jeweiry."

The Rev. Joseph took the next train for Los Angeles, and from that day to this the confiding widow has not set eyes on the reverend sharper.

She waited and waited, but he did not put in an appearance, and a few days are the poor woman visited the District Attorney's office and unfolded her tale of two with tears in her eyes. A detective was started out to look up the Rev. Packard, and he soon found that he had been a preacher in the Holless Band, which holds forth under the Nadeau.

Many citizens have doubtless listened to the works of windom that he has uttered from the curristens on the Nadean corner is then Packard has not been seen in Los An-geles. I setserday District Attorney Kelley, earned that the reliow is in Texas preach-ing to the cowboys. As soon as the sharp tot the $25 he boarded the Southern Pacific train, and got out of the State as soon as possible. It is believed by the officers that he has victimized a number of people. Un-ess other complaints are made against him he will not be brought back.

THE Board of Education is debating whether to use brick or wood in the construction of the new schoolhouses. With so slight a margin in price be tween brick and wood as there is here at present, there should, in our opinion, be no hesitation on this subject, but an immediate decision in favor brick. Our public buildings should be of a solid and permanent character, not like temporary shanties. At pres ent, there is only one brick school house in town a fact which must im press new arrivals rather unfavorably. Then, again, the increased safety of the children, and the lower rate of insurance would fully compensate for the very slightly increased cost. Let lhouses be built of brick. By and by we will build them of stone.

THE terrible fire which swept the city of shoes this week, nearly wiping out the business or heart of the city, was, as we happen to know, not unexpected. For years business men have looked forward to such a time, and it is but fair to suppose that they are fairly well protected by insurance. The ority of the buildings in a part of he district burned were mere shells huddled together, ready to kindle and go, and were, in many cases, a disce to the city. While a large amoun of money has undoubtedly been lost, will in reality be the city's in, as all the factories, or many of em, will be rebuilt with stone or Lynn is one of the stronges s, financially, in the country in proto its population, and the num ber of extremely wealthy young men is somewhat remarkable; with the pregeneration it was, the reverse. eriously crippled by the war, the southand it is only within the past

A GOOD CHANCE TO ADVERTISE OUR RESOURCES.

As most of our readers are aware, the National Grange has recently been in session in Sacramento. That body—or a large number of its members—will arrive in Los Angeles on Monday. While they have been officially invited to come here by the Chamber of Commerce, they would have taken in this point in any case, but the fact of such invitation having been tendered makes it doubly incumbent on our citizens to give these prominent agriculturists a hearty welcome.

There should, however, be no need of any such extra inducement as this of any such axtra inducement as this to incline us to do what is so obviously and peculiarly in our interest. The members of the National Grange, now in this State, include some of the prom-inent men of the Nation. All are men of prominence in their respective sections —men whose word carries weight, whose opinion is sought and valued.

They belong, moreover, to the class whose opinion is of most value to us; to the class which is best able to judge of our leading resources; to the class which we are most anxious to attract to this section—the class of practical American farmers. Each of these delegates will be a sort of living "California on Wheels" for some time after returning home, being full of informa-tion about the Golden State, its products and its possibilities, as seen fro the standpoint of a practical agricul-turist. Surely it is needless to insist upon the advantages of our making i the fact that, since the close of its session at Sacramento, the members session at Sacramento, the monoi of the grange have visited and beer of the grange have visited and be regally entertained at Chico, Red Bluff, Santa Rosa, Stockton, San José and other places, and further, that they have been diligently assured, by our northern neighbors, that they will find the citrus crop of Southern California behind that of the north in time of maturity. In fact, unless we take some trouble to show them what we have down here, they may return home with

Chamber of Commerce. Our business men will shortly be waited upon with a request for small financial contributions to cover the cost of such entertainment. They should respond as liberally as their circumstances will permit. We have fallen into a rather despondent kind of rut of late, from which it is about time that we extricate ourselves and the present is a particularly anspicious occasion upon which to begin.

These figures allow of placing 227 copies of periodical every year with each family

Our talented and enthusiastic, but more than occasionally somewhat verbose and tautological-not to say longwinded-contemporary, the San Bernar ino Courier, has "got its mad up" at Mr. Manvel of the Santa Fé system because that gentleman is reported to have remarked that Los Angeles is the "natural center" of Southern California. The Courier's wrath leads it to be so impolite as to say unkind things about Mr. Manvel's asserted self-opinion and pomp, also about the asserted contents of his head. This is 'natural center" of Southern Califorade that the effects of this have opinion and pomp, also about the as-

RESIDENTS of North Carolina were treated to a cyclone on Thanksgiving day. One farmer's residence was blown down and his entire family blown down and his entire family killed instantly; the daughter of another was caught up and carried away, it is not known whither, as the body has not yet been found. Californian do indeed have reason to give sincere do, indeed, have reason to give sincere thanks, not only once a year, but every day, for the blessing they enjoy of a climate which leaves them alone to pursue their avocations in peace, without fear of having a limb frozen off, out fear of having or of being suddenly wafted into an adjacent county. There is no reason why we should go to the trouble of denying the assertion of envious rivals that we Californians charge settlers changed, and the work is extra for climate. Los Angeles Theater.—The romantic drama of Nordeck was given for the first time this season by Frank. Mayo and company last night. The play is one of stirring incident, eloquent language and interesting plot. It is well written and very well acted. The costumes are rich and the stage setting tasteful. Mr. Mayo appears to good advantage in the leading character, although it is impossible for him to make up as a young man. A little less rapidity in his delivery might also be appreciated by some of his audience, who do not happen to know all about the plece in advance.

Miss Marie Burress made a very charming "Countess Wanda," and strengthened the good impression made by her performance in Davy Crockett. Nordeck will be given today at the matinee and evening performances, and Davy Crockett for the last time tomorrow night. Los Angeles THEATER.—The romantic Yesterday afternoon as a man named Harris was walking up Main street with a pug dog in his arm, he met a Chinase ped-dier, and began to "josh" him. The Chinaman did not like it, and called Harris man did not like it, and called Harris a rather tough name, when Harris struck him in the face. The Chinaman struck back at Harris with the iong stick on which his baskets were swung, when the latter raised his arm to ward off the blow, thus bringing the "pug" in range, which was struck on the head and killed. A short time after Mrs. Harris came to the police station and wanted a warrant for the arrest of the Chinaman for the murder of the dog, but it was not issued.

ATEST ESTIMATES OF LOSS AND INSURANCE

cenes Among the Ruins - Insur ance Companies Not Likely to Be Swamped—Two Fire-men Missing.

By relegroph to The Times.
BOSTON, Nov. 29.—(By the Associated Press.) The burned district today presents a scene of desolation. A portion of the fire artment spent the entire night and this morning on remnants of the big blaze, while a cordon of weary officers is still guarding the ruins. Incoming trains are packed with sight-seers. The walls of some of the gut-ted buildings are in a very dangerous conditear away the débris. Nearly all the burned-occupy other stores at once.

Among the spectators at the ruins today were 500 girls employed by Crowell's book bindery, many of whom were the m.in support of families, and who have no means of subsistence.

The largest bankers look for no bad financial effect from the recent fires. Most of the insurance losses were by English companies, as in the case of the Lynn fire. The losses are comparatively small in the home offices and well distributed. The individual losers as a rule are abundantly able to stand the losses.

John G. Page's agrency estimates the total loss at $10,000,000.

Underwriters on the street estimate the total property loss between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000.

The aggregate insurance on the property

15,000,000.

VICTORIA (B. C.), Nov. 29.—The steamer Idaho, Capt. Arkwright, which left Port Towasend for Portland—this morning, struck Rosedale reef, about a quarter of a mile from Race Rocks Lighthouse, and may become a total wreck. The steamer had a cargo of 800 barrels of lime, 150 barrels of fish oil, 570 barrels of salmon, 65 bales of hops and 200 tons of coal.

The fog was very thick, but the steamer was running at full speed. The Race Rocks fog whistle was heard just before striking. Immediately on hearing it the engines were stopped, but the vessel struck amidships on the end of the reef.

Water commenced to pour in, and orders were given to throw the lime overboard, and all but 150 barrels were got out. The water then reached the remaining lime, which took-fire and drove the men out, but holes were bored in the deck and the lime drowned out. The woodwork was several times on fire.

THE HORTICULTURISTS.

Monthly Meeting-California Prunes SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29.—[By the Asso-clated Press.] At the monthly meeting of the State Horticultural Society today Leonard Coates of Napa read a paper giv-lug the results of his observations during a trip through Great Britain. He said there was a growing demand in England for prunes and apricots of fine quality. It was thought that prunes could be profitably shipped from here and reach England at the shipped from here and reach England at the time they would sell well. The cost of shipment by rail and sea would arount to 4 cents a pound. Righly blenched sulphured prunes were not wanted. Growers could rest assured that nothing but the best quality of products can find a market in England, and excessive sulphuring would work disaster to California fruits abroad. Moreover, California fruits to succeed abroad must be introduced as a novelty and not through the old channels of trade.

in our judgment, preferable to the lowlands of the interior valleys for successful fig culture. The fruit should be allowed to thoroughly mature and ripen upon the tree before it is gathered. Some Smyrna figs in their native home do not produce and mature the true type of fruit until the eighth or tenth year from planting. Why should California growers expect an abundance in three or four years?"

A BIG MORTGAGE.

The Oregon Improvement Company's $15,000,000 Blanket. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29.—[By the Associated Press.] There was filed in the Recorder's office for record this afternoon a ment of $15,000,000 in bonds issued by the former company to consolidate its indebtedness. The mortgage was given on November 1, 1889, and is signed by Elijah Smith, president, and P. W. Smith, secretary of the Oregon Company, and R. W. Ralston, president, and E. S. Marston, secretary of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company. The bonds issued are each for $1000, and bear interest at 5 per cent. They mature October 1, 1939, interest being payable semi-annually. The mortgage covers all the agricultural and timber lands belonging to the company in Oregon and Washington, 3139 acres, all its coal lands, steam and salling vessels, stock bonds or other securities.

ROBBED A STAGE. The Lone Highwayman Again Heard From.

Heard From.

REDDING, Nov. 29.—18y the Associated Press.] The Redding and Weaverville stage was robbed last night half a mile from Middle Creek and three and a half miles from Redding. Dow, the owner of the stage line, was driving, and the stage-driver, named Kneuff, was on the box with him. The robber, a tall, thin man, armed with a shotgun are pistol, ordered the driver to stop and mide both get down, and compalled Knauff to break onen Wells. compelled Kneuff to break open Wells, Fargo & Co.'s box, obliging Dow to throw out all the mail sacks from inside the stage. The robber talked a good de il and was perfectly cool. He got a little from the express box, but secured considerable registered mail.

ciated Press. There was filed in the Recorder's office for record this afternoon a mortgage given by the Oregon Improvement Company to the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company of New York to secure payment of $15,000,000 in bonds issued by Union Pacific Railroad is back of the Utah and Los Angeles Railroad. This opinion has been recently strengthened by the visit of the engineers of the Utah and Los Angeles, who lately made a tour of the sity and went to kedondo Beach and San Diego. They had that sity and went to Redondo Beach and San Diego. They had just completed cross-sectioning 200 miles of the proposed rail-road to Los Angeles, between Milfard and Ploche, Nev. They were non-committal, but left the impression in Los Angeles that the road would be built and running into that city within two years. Capt. George Ainsworth of Oakland and Capt. Thompson, who own the controlling interest in the Redondo line, will establish a fast steamship line between that place and San Francisco. The trip will be made in 24 hours, and freight rates will be reduced to about $2 a ton. These gentlemen are now building a fine hotel and wharf, and are confident that Redondo is to be made the end of the Utah and Los Angeles line.

A Funny Fight.
Frank Ham the railroad ticket broker, was arrested yesterday afternoon on the complaint of an old tailor named Birnbaum, complaint of an old tallor named Birnbaum, who keeps a shop on Main street, near the Pico House, charging him with battery. Ham, it appears, had some old clothes that Birnbaum wanted to buy, but they got into a dispute, when Ham pulled the Hebraic gentleman's whisker. Ham was brought into court, when he gave bail for his appearance, and the case was set for trial Decembe 6th, before a jury.

Arrested for Battery. Frank Ware, who lives near the corner of Maple avenue and Pine streets, was arrested by Officer Sanchez on a warrant charging him with battery on the person of C. H. Owens, a neighbor. In some dispute about Owens's horse getting into Ware's barley field, the former was struck several times with a broomstick, injuring him badly. Owens is an invalid, and is confined to his bed from the assault, his wife swearing out the complaint.

Lively Hunaway.

A lively runaway occurred on Fort street yesterday morning. A team attached to a scraper dashed down Fort street, and when in front of the Trangs building collided with a wagon, throwing the driver, a boy, twelve or fifteen feet. The boy was taken into the Times Jobroom and a physician sent for. He was not badly hurt, and was soon able to go to his home.

patience resterday, which I wish to publish in order to warn other unwary strangers of the dangers that lurk in the most harmless appearing placards. Thanksgiving Day dawned as beautiful as a May morning, and I, being a pranger, sallied from my boardinghouse to "view the landscape o'er." Buddenly I beheld what thrilled my heart with joy. There loomed up before me a telegraph pole and tacked thereon was a small placard announcing that for the small sum of 50 cents a certain church would furnish a "Bountiful and Old-fashioned Thanksgiving Dinner." Visions of rosst turkey and pumpkin ples came up before my mind's eye, and at the time mentioned on the placard i presented myself before the doors of the place where the dinner was to be served. A gentleman standing in the door demanded 50 cents, which I gave him; and then handed me over to a bevy of ladies who wore red badges with the word "Reception" emblazoned there, on in white letters. They seized upon me and bore me off to a long, lonely table. No other diners were in sight. As soon as I was seated a swarm of ladies from the back of the room came down in a body, and many and unsophisticated were the inquiries as to whether I liked turkey, and "which part" would I take. After a great deal of fuss, I succeeded in obtaining a liberal supply of the above-mentioned fowl, and attempted to taste it, but was prevented by having a plate of bread thrust under my nose, with the words: "It's home-made, you know." I accepted the bread, and again attempted to convey the coveted morsel of turkey to my lips. A hand interposed between my fork and my lips with a plate of rolls. "Now I think the gentleman would prefer some of these home-made rolls to that bread." I declined the rolls, and again thrust my fork into the meat, but wastress No. 3 rushed up with a plate of souce.

tieman would prefer some of these home-made rolls to that bread." I declined the rolls, and again thrust my fork into the meat, but waitress No. 3 rushed up with a plate of sauce. "Now do try some of these cranberries. It's all home-cooking, you know. I accepted the sauce, and again essayed to lift my fork to my lips, but "there's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip," as I found to my sorrow, for just then a very large lady bore down upon us, and as the little crowd around my chair separated, she cried: "Now I'm sure the gentleman is ready for pie," and she commenced naming the various kinds at hand, ever and anon putting in: "The're all home-made, you know." Just then another unfortunate, lured to his doom probably by the same seductive placard that attracted me, was seated by the "Reception" Committee, and the attention of my tormentors was turned for a moment. I hastily guiped that bit of turkey, and seizing my hat, fairly took to my heels. One of the waitresses followed me to the door, and called out: "Do wait and have some pie; it is home-made, you know." Thus I escaped. Now, Saints, deliver us from church Thanksgiving dinners, where waitresses abound and every thing is "home-made, you know." Respectfully.

P. S.—I sigh my name and former place of abode, "not as necessary to publication, but as a guarantee of good faith." However, you may publish both.

FROM AZUSA.

Some Newspaper Hogwash Stirred
Up with the Stick of Truth.
AZUSA, Nov. 29.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] A bristly sheet, claiming Los Angeles as its home, recently did Azusa an injustice by publishing a lot of "boom stuff" about our great prosimposing architecture are in process of erection." What is meant by process of erection? If building castles in the air is the answer, then we plead guilty; otherwise, we are entirely innocent of the charge. Perhaps in the glorious future—but I will not waste time on such idle speculation. But by far the biggest "fake" in the article is the assertion that street-car lines are being laid. It is not so. Nor is it even a remote possibility. We do not need any, and we do not want any. It would be a detriment in our present state of urban incipiency.

"The citizens of Azusa are among the most intelligent, cultivated, redned and hospitable of this eminently friendly land."

Well, now, I ought not to kick. Be-

Well, now, I ought not to kick. Being one of those citizens, of coure, I am entitled to my pro rata share of the taffy; yet I may be allowed to murmur that this saccharine coat is laid on just a little bit too heavy. Just think of it! Should any tramp happen to see a copy of this Iurid description (which is very likely to happen, as some matron on his line of march is very apt to wrap some comestibles. as some matron on his line of march is very apt to wrap some comestibles therein previous to presenting him with the hand-out), what a calamity would betail "Beautiful Azusa!" All the tramps in Christendo will be hieing themselves hitherward to avail themselves of our bruited hospitality. "Coming as they have from all parts of the world, a cosmopolitan atmosphere pervades this section, comparable only to older and more conservative climes."

Leaving out of the question the grammatical cacophony of this sentence, I will just say that the only reason for its ever having seen the light of day, to my mind is the opportunity to exhibit the phrase "cosmopolitan atmosphere."

to exhibit the phrase "cosmopolitan atmosphere."

Why all this perversion of facts? The truth is good enough, and a little effort on the part of newspaper writers will discover it, even if "hid under a bushel." As a matter of fact, outside of the preliminary sale of lots, Azusa never had a "boom." That monstrous malformation was strangled at the birth. Later, the real Azusa was brought into the world, and has had a natural growth since then. We are now a "healthy infant" just donning our first pair of pants.

The new management of the Santa Fe road in its wisdom have seen fit to make overtures to our citizens in regard to moving the Y from its present pisce at Duarte to our more progressive town, thus changing the terminus of their short train, service. We have

RAILROAD MISINFORMATION.

Lies That Are Lies, and Nonsense
That Is Nonsensical
[Santa Barbara Press.]

The Los Angeles Tribune can crowd more error into a paragraph of railroad news than any other paper in California, and can keep it up longer than all the other papers combined.

The Tribune makes us tired running down and tracing out its various misstatements of railroad matters, and judging from the Ventura Vidette, the Press is not alone in this matter. It says: "The Tribune, which for two years has been telling its readers that a railway was to be built from Los Angeles to Hueneme; that the gap between Santa Barbara and Templeton was to be completed at once, etc., ought to subside for a time, at least. Nearly every week it contains a lot of misinformation concerning these matters.

Mr. la Motte nor any one else has ever made any proposition of the kind to the Ventura county Supervisors, as coming to his window, at a late hour, darkly disguised, embellished with big whiskers, and sporting deep bass voices, and pretending to be tramps, demanding admission. A speedy response in the shape of a bullet dying in close proximity to the "tramps" heads, broke up the meeting in discorder, and sent the assailants flying with feminine squesks of terror. Next time they will be sure there is no pistol handy.

Gen. George H. Thomas and Gen. Schoffeld in November, 1864, to oppose Hood's invasion of Taxable Hood's invasion of the Hailure of its Missouri troops to arrive, forced his to fall back upon Franklin below. Nashville. Shortly afterward, the capture of his baggage train after a sharp fight with the guerrilla chief, caused Schoffeld to arrange his troops in a curved line south and west of Franklin, with his fianks on the Haipeth River. Slight entrenchments were thrown up along the front, with Wood's div sion and a body of cavalry on the north bank of the Harpeth. For Granger commanded the platean across which Hood must advance to the attack. The Federal force numbered 18,000 men. At 4 p. m. on November 30, 1864, Hood appeared with bodies of cavalry on each flank. His advance was a complete surprise, Schoffeld being at Fort Granger, and accordingly Gen. Stanley commanded. The Federal center was held by 10,000 men, and Hood's furious charge hurled the Federal advance backward upon the main line, which also began to crumble. A strong position and a battery of eight guns were captured by the Confederates, who planted their battle-flag on the entrenchments. The day seemed irrecoverably lost, but at this moment Stanley ordered. Opdyke to advance with his brigade. The swift charge drove the Cenfederates being taken. Hood made several desperate charges to recover the position, but in vain. It was midnight before the last shot. This check was for Hood a disastrous defeat, as he lost 6258 men, of which 1750 were killed and 700 were prisoners. The Federal loss was 3298. Gen. George H. Ti chofield in November the last shot. This check was for Hood a disastrous defeat, as he lost 6258 men, of which 1750 were killed and 700 were prisoners. The Federal loss was 2320, of which 180 were killed and 1104 were missing. The next day Schofield fell back upon Nashville.

Though not a general of the highest order, MARSHAL SAXE is still the most distinguished.

back upon Nashville.

Though not a general of the highest order, Marshal Saxe is still the most distinguished commander that appeared in France during the greater part of the eighteenth century. The victory of Fontenoy, gained May 11, 1745, over the combined forces of England and Holland, commanded by the Duke of Cumberland, was followed by a series of successes which compelled the allies to enter into negotiations with France for peace, resulting in the peace of Alx-la-Chapelle in 1748. Louis XV. showered honors upon the victor, bestowing upon him the Castle of Chambord, twelve miles from Blois, with an annual revenue of 100,000 francs. Marshal Saxe, or more properly. Maurice of Saxony, was the natural sen of Augustus II. King of Poland, and born at Dresden October 19, 1696. He first entered the French army in 1720, and from 1733 until his death, November 30, 1750, he remained continuously in the French service. A foreigner by birth, Marshal Saxe was, in religion, a Lutberan, so that it was impossible to bury him with all the rites and ceremonies befitting his position and services. A lady of rank remarked, on hearing of his death: "How vexatious that we cannot say a De Profundis for him who made us so often sing Te Deum!" Locis XV., however, caused his corpse to be conveyed with great pomp from Chambord to Strasburg, where it was interred in the Lutheran Church in that town.

In the ecclesiastical calendar, November 30 stands consecrated to Sr.

of Simon Fets. It was on of the surface of John the Impiret to the John the Impiret to John the Impiret to John the Impiret to John the Impiret to John the Jo later in 368, the legend states that a monk named Regulus removed the relics of the saint to Fife, Scotland, and deposited them on a spot where he built a church, and where afterward arose the renowned city and cathedral built a church, and where atterward arose the renowned city and cathedral of St. Andrew. Whatever credit may be given to this story, it is certain that St. Andrew has been regarded as the patron saint of Scotland from time immemorial, and his day, the 30th of November, is a favorite occasion of social and national reunion among Scotchmen residing in England and Scotchmen residing in England and other places abroad.
